Essay

After high school, I hope to attend my top choice college, the Pennsylvania State University starting in the summer semester. If I don't get accepted, I aim to go to the Indiana University of Pennsylvania. Regardless of where I attend college, I want to get a major in business management to own and operate my own bookstore and floral shop. I believe that it is so important to dedicate your life to something that you are passionate about and you love, so life never seems tedious.

Along with my general love for the two, I want to open this business to pass on the love of the little things, such as reading and the beauty of nature, to younger generations. The world is ever-changing, and I would love to make an impact on the future by being able to conserve the appreciation of the world and art around us.

I am applying for this scholarship because it will help me so much in achieving my dreams. It's no surprise that college is really expensive, and the thought of having to struggle with paying for your dream for the rest of your life is so daunting. The opportunity to apply for this scholarship is really exciting to me for not only the help it can provide, but the fact that it is local too. Growing up here for the past ten years, I've developed a huge love and appreciation for this community, and this scholarship gives me a further feeling of connection to this amazing place.

To whom it may concern:

I am honored to recommend Olivia Jukes for your program.

I've had the pleasure of teaching Olivia in my concurrent enrollment college composition courses, and am looking forward to having her as a student again in creative writing and literature in her upcoming senior year. Olivia is a talented student who displays intelligence, maturity and drive. She is an accomplished writer, and has demonstrated an aptitude for close-reading texts and picking up on complex themes or lines of reasoning, asking thoughtful questions, and recognizing and formulating insightful connections between our coursework, other academic disciplines, and real-world events and issues.

Olivia has a strong work ethic and is very self-motivated, and her accomplishments range across the disciplines. She holds herself to extremely high standards, and consistently excels; but Olivia seems primarily motivated not by achievement or recognition, but by a genuine desire to understand, to grow, and to work toward her goals.

Olivia is a natural leader to whom her classmates turn for help and support. She has taken on numerous extracurricular leadership roles, including representing her peers as a student board member. I had the opportunity to witness her ambassadorship at the Colorado Association of School Boards student leadership summit, and was impressed by her drive not just to represent her school well, but to learn and bring home ideas to better serve student needs.

She works well with others in and out of the classroom. In a small school in which students know each other sometimes too well, she is able to interact with her peers professionally and productively. In writing workshops, she accepts feedback with grace, and her own thoughtful contributions and suggestions help her fellow students to clarify their own thinking and bring out the best in their written work.

It has been a delight to have Olivia as a student, and to witness her continuing evolution as a writer, leader, entrepreneur and critical thinker. I look forward to seeing where her intelligence and drive take her in the next stages of her academic and professional journey. I couldn't recommend her more highly.

Sincerely,

Admissions and Scholarship Committees:

It is with great enthusiasm and the highest level of confidence that I write this letter of recommendation for Miss Olivia Jukes, an exceptional student at Mancos High School. As Superintendent of the Mancos School District, I have the privilege of observing students across all grades and programs—and I can say without hesitation that Olivia stands among the most extraordinary I have encountered. She is a driven scholar, a natural leader, and a compassionate force for good in her community.

Olivia excels in every endeavor she undertakes. Academically, she is among the top of her class, approaching learning with curiosity, persistence, and intellectual maturity well beyond her years. She is a deep thinker who engages complex ideas with both analytical rigor and open-mindedness. Her teachers consistently praise her for her disciplined study habits, thoughtful contributions to classroom discussions, and mastery across multiple content areas. Yet Olivia is more than a strong student—she is a transformative presence on our campus.

Her leadership is evident in the classroom, on the athletic court, in our community, and, remarkably, in the boardroom. Olivia has served as a student representative on the Mancos Board of Education, where she has made meaningful contributions to policy discussions and consistently demonstrated poise, insight, and professionalism typically found in seasoned adults. She advocates for her peers with clarity and conviction, inspiring trust from both students and adults alike. This role, demanding both maturity and civic responsibility, speaks volumes about Olivia's character and capacity for impact.

In addition, Olivia is a talented volleyball athlete who leads with humility, grit, and sportsmanship. She supports her teammates, balances a demanding schedule, and serves as a role model for younger students. Beyond school, Olivia is deeply involved in service efforts throughout the Mancos Valley. Whether volunteering at local events or leading peer mentorship programs, she embodies integrity, empathy, and a sincere commitment to the well-being of others.

Olivia Jukes is, quite simply, the type of student every educator hopes to work with and every institution dreams of enrolling. Her blend of academic excellence, leadership, compassion, and civic engagement makes her an outstanding candidate for both college admission and scholarship consideration. She will enrich your academic community in every dimension—intellectually, socially, and ethically.

Please feel free to contact me directly at 970-533-7780 or TCordrey@mancosre6.edu should you require any additional information. I give Olivia my highest and most enthusiastic recommendation.

Sincerely,
Todd Cordrey
Superintendent
Mancos School District
