How does Power Advantage Work?

EEA requires $50 to start your Power Advantage account and after that, it is entirely up to you. One of the benefits of Power Advantage is that you create the program to fit your budget. You can purchase enough electricity to last a week, a month, or more.

When you set up your account, you will select how you want to receive messages about your account status: by email, by text, SmartHub notification, or by automated phone calls.

You can visit your account anytime by logging in through EEA's online SmartHub pay portal at eea.coop or through your mobile SmartHub app.

When your credit balance is -$20 or less you will receive a low balance alert giving you time to purchase more electricity. If the balance on your account goes into balance owed, your meter will stop and the power will be shut off. Once a payment is made and you have a credit balance the power is automatically turned back on. Purchasing more electricity is easy and there is no late fee, disconnect or reconnect fees.
